POWERS PLAN TO OCCUPY CAPITAL OF TURK EMPIRE

Will Place Soldiers in Constantinople to Keep Out the Advancing Bulgarian Army

AUSTRIA ENRAGED AT SERVIA

Defiant Move of Little Nation Upon Durazzo Is the Cause of Anger in Vienna

VIENNA, Nov. 11.—Emperor Francis Joseph, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the throne, and members of the imperial cabinet held a war council at Budapest this afternoon, at which the Balkan situation and Serbia's defiance of Austria's warnings were fully considered. The wildest rumors were afloat concerning the prospect of an immediate Austrian advance into Serbian territory. President Danef of the Bulgarian parliament, who is endeavoring to mediate between Austria and Serbia, was received by the emperor.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 11.—Rear Admiral Knight, in command of the cruisers Montana and Tennessee, received orders today from Washington to proceed to Turkish water at ten o'clock tomorrow morning for the purpose of protecting American interests. The ships slipped their cables this afternoon and anchored in the middle of the Delaware.

Rear Admiral Knight when asked what action he would take in case the powers took a hand in the situation at Constantinople replied: "I am going there to protect American interests and I shall do so at any cost. I expect to arrive at Gibraltar late on the 21st."

With the expectation that the warships will have to feed hundreds of American refugees, the vessels carried an extra supply of provisions.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—Turkey was understood in diplomatic circles here today to have signified its approval of a temporary joint occupation of Constantinople by landing parties from English, German, French, Russian, Austrian and Italian warships, ostensibly to protect the six powers subjects there but really to keep the Bulgarians out.

The powers could not conveniently land enough men to resist the Bulgarian army in the event of an actual attack on the Turkish capital, but it was considered that Czar Ferdinand could not possibly be insane enough to brave the six big nations' anger, and even his own friends, by trying to force his way into the city over the dead bodies of their blue-jackets and marines.

It was the general impression here that the landing would be ordered the moment it became evident that Constantinople could hold out no longer. The chancelleries were in communication on the subject today and it was said on good authority that they were virtually agreed.

Russia Agrees

Even Russia, Bulgaria's supporter, has expressed the view that a permanent Bulgarian occupation of the sultan's capital was undesirable. It did, indeed, give Ferdinand to understand that it had no objection to his entry into the city, provided he did not remain there. The St. Petersburg government admitted, however, that it was understood that once in occupation of the city, he probably would be unwilling to surrender. It again and that it would be difficult to dislodge him without a resort to force, which would entail possibilities of all sorts of international complications. For this reason, St. Petersburg was disposed, not only to agree to the proposed preventive measure, but actually to co-operate with it. Reports that a massacre of Christians was in progress in Constantinople Saturday apparently were baseless. The government, at latest accounts, was disarming the populace as rapidly as possible. News that English and American residents were entreaching Robert College, an American institution was taken as indicating the tenseness of the situation.

Bulgaria Asks Much

LONDON, Nov. 11.—What answer Bulgaria has made to Turkey's peace negotiations could not be learned here today. Inasmuch as fighting was still in progress along the Chalchalia lines, it was inferred that the Bulgarians must have demanded

ALLEGED LUNATIC AT WHITEHOUSE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—A man who said he was Jeff Dowdell, a miner of Silverwood, Ind., was arrested at the White house today because of his insistence that President Taft and Ambassador Bryce confer with him on a plan to reduce the high cost of living.

Dowdell said he had walked to Washington. He carried papers covered with unintelligible writing and said the state department had referred him to Taft. He will be held pending an inquiry into his sanity.

SOCIALIST EDITOR TAKES OWN LIFE

Julius A. Wayland, Owner of Appeal to Reason, Shoots Himself in the Mouth

DOCTRINES' FAILURE CAUSE

Note Left Behind Declares Struggle Against Competitive System Is Useless

GIRARD, Kan., Nov. 11.—"The struggle under the competitive system is not worth the effort, let it pass." This note was found today tucked inside a book on socialism belonging to Julius A. Wayland, owner of the Appeal to Reason, who committed suicide in his home. Wayland ended his life by discharging an automatic revolver in his mouth. He had retired to his room, when the shot was heard, and died two hours later.

Though the note left by Wayland would indicate that his failure to see the doctrines he preached generally adopted led him to end his life, many of his friends here declare they do not believe this to be the logical reason.

One year ago Mrs. Wayland was killed in an automobile accident, and Wayland is said to have been downcast at times since then. The fact that the grand jury convened at Ft. Scott today to take up charges brought against Fred Warren, editor of the Appeal, has also been advanced as the cause of Wayland's act. Warren today asserted, however, that he alone was responsible for matter printed in the paper, and that Wayland knew that he would be involved in no way should indictment be returned.

Wayland was born at Versailles April 26, 1854. He conducted papers in Pueblo, Col., and Greensburg, Ind.

The prosecution in the federal courts of Wayland, Fred B. Warren, editor of the Appeal, and E. L. Phifer, an editorial writer, coupled with the death of Mrs. Wayland in an automobile accident a year ago, is declared today by the socialist editor's friends to have led to his suicide.

Wayland, Warren and Phifer were to have been arraigned today at Fairbairn on a charge of sending obscene matter through the mails in connection with articles concerning the federal prison at Ft. Leavenworth. The Appeal claims that a deputy warden of the institution was dismissed as a result of the exposure.

The Appeal went to press late yesterday before Wayland killed himself and publishes today what is claimed to be the exposure of a wide spread plot to discredit and wreck the paper. Included in the alleged exposure is a sworn statement by A. W. Lovejoy, who declares that he was authorized by the department of justice to secure evidence against the Appeal, and to "manufacture" evidence if necessary.

Lovejoy presents what is said to be a commission from the department of justice.

UNION FURNISHED DYNAMITE FUND

McManigal Says Executive Council Set Aside Money for Explosives

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 11.—Ortie E. McManigal, the confessed dynamiter, told of J. J. McNamara's alleged part in his work of destruction. McManigal swore that McNamara told him the executive council of the union—the men now on trial—had set apart a large sum of money for the work McManigal was doing. He alleged that McNamara furnished him with the dynamite and nitro-glycerine that he used in explosions in Cincinnati, Cleveland and Detroit. He said that McNamara furnished him with an automatic revolver, carrying cases and alarm clocks.

FLORAL COMPANY SCORES TRIUMPH

La Crosse Greenhouse Wins Eight Prizes Out of Nine Exhibits at St. Paul Show

THE GOVERNOR IS PLEASED

Eberhart Extends Personal Congratulations to La Crosse Florists Upon Their Success

"They tell me these white chrysanthemums are the finest in the show. I want to congratulate you."

With these words Governor Eberhart, of Minnesota, shook hands cordially with Carl E. Schaefer, president of the La Crosse Floral company at the Minnesota Flower show, which is being held at the Auditorium, St. Paul, November 8 to 12.

The La Crosse Floral company, although only four years old, took eight prizes on Chrysanthemums out of a total of nine exhibits as follows:

Two first prizes.
Three second prizes.
Three third prizes.

Two of the prizes are especially matters of pride to the Floral company because the artistic genius of the producers entered into the competition. These were the second prize for "Twenty-five yellow 'mums' arranged for effect," and third prize for "All colors arranged for effect."

Friday was "Chrysanthemum Day," and the show was opened by Governor Eberhart, who made a pleasant little speech and spent considerable time inspecting the show and talking with the producers.

The Floral company prizes were won in competition with many of the largest and most celebrated greenhouses in the United States, among them Pullman Bros., Chicago, who have over 2,000,000 feet of glass; C. C. Pollworth and Holton & Hunkel, Milwaukee; Elmer D. Smith, Adrian, Mich. The latter is credited with being the most expert originator and grower of chrysanthemums in America.

The Floral company did not exhibit carnations, owing to the fact that exhibits were called for in lots of one hundred of each variety, which would demand an immense cutting at a time when the market demands more than the capacity of the plant.

HOME-RULE BILL NEAR ITS FINISH

Administration Defeated in House of Commons and Probably Will Re-sign

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The administration was defeated in the house of commons today by a vote of 228 to 206 on the financial clause of the Irish home rule bill. If the usual course is followed the administration will resign and a general election will follow. Unless it results in a victory for the liberals, who are now in power, home rule will be lost. In any event, if the administration resigns, an entirely fresh start will have to be made on the measure in the new parliament. The commons adjourned in wild excitement.

The question on which today's vote was taken was an amendment to the home rule bill, offered by Sir Frederick Banbury, a conservative, providing that, in case Ireland proved unable to support itself by local taxation and had to call on the imperial government for assistance, the amount be limited to $12,500,000. Premier Asquith said this was too little, that $30,000,000 might be needed.

The conservatives leaped to their benches when the result of the vote was announced, screaming: "Resign, resign."

CONFERENCE ON SITUATION

M'GOVERN BRINGS ON FINAL SPLIT WITH SENATOR

Executive and La Follette to Be in Open War Following Former's Statement

ACCUSES BOB OF FALSIFYING

Governor Says He Has Spread False Reports About Affair at Chicago Convention

"MAC" WILL BE THE LOSER

Little Doubt that Fight Will End in Defeat of Newly Re-elected Official

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 11.—Governor McGovern today widened the breach between himself and Senator La Follette by declaring in a post-election statement that the senator injured his cause and told untruths about his action at the Chicago convention. This completes the breach between the two men, and the fight will now probably go merrily on until one of them is eliminated from public life. That this will be the governor there seems little doubt, according to those who knew the senator's fighting mood.

The governor said: "Throughout the campaign Senator La Follette, while commending all of my official acts, daily made charges against me of disloyalty at the Chicago convention and of betrayal of his candidacy for the presidency. These misconceived charges and malicious insinuations based on them, were reiterated again and again in the hostile press, on democratic posters, and from the platform at democratic meetings. It is to be deplored that the senator pursued this course, as there was no excuse or justification for it. That there is no truth whatever in the accusation he made is well known to most people who attended the Chicago convention. I cannot remain silent in the face of the charges he has made against me."

TIM SULLIVAN DYING

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The Bowery was nursing itself today for news of "Big Tim" Sullivan's death. Contradictory rumors of his condition passed up and down the great east side to which he had been patron saint for many years. The men who have worked with the big fellow in the past, insisted they were all lies. One thing was plain and that was that Sullivan was showing no improvement.

RITTER SELECTED AS UNDERSHERIFF

Supervisor of Thirteenth Ward Appointed to Succeed Omerberg by Sheriff-elect

OTHER OFFICES ARE PENDING

Four Deputy Sheriffs Yet to Be Selected, and Deputy Clerk of Court to Be Named

George Ritter, supervisor of the Thirteenth ward, will assume the duties of undersheriff when John Webber, sheriff-elect takes office January 1. At a meeting of the executive committee of the democratic county committee and officers-elect held at the democratic headquarters late Saturday afternoon, Mr. Webber submitted the name of George Ritter. The committee immediately ratified the appointment.

Louis Omerberg, who has been undersheriff for the last two years under the Burns administration, had the endorsement of every member of the county committee, but he was not a candidate for reappointment. Mr. Omerberg was not an active candidate, and his support came without solicitation by democratic leaders solicited for the efficiency of the office.

Mr. Webber today declared that he has not yet decided upon the recommendations he will make for the appointment of the four deputy sheriffs or for turnkey. Deputy sheriffs will be appointed for the villages of Onalaska, West Salem, Bangor and Mindoro. Mr. Webber will probably submit names for appointments within the next few weeks.

C. C. Hamilton, clerk of court-elect, submitted the name of George Wright for the appointment as deputy clerk of court but the committee refused to ratify the appointment because of the fact that Wright is a republican.

It was finally decided that Mr. Hamilton shall confer with Judge E. C. Higbee. It is understood that any person who shall be suggested by Mr. Hamilton and Judge Higbee will be ratified by the committee providing he be a democrat.

These are the only county offices which are provided with assistants and any other appointments made by other officers will be made without reference to the committee.

COLONEL BRYANT GETS HIGH HONOR

Former La Crosse Citizen Made Judge Advocate General of National G. A. R.

Colonel Benjamin F. Bryant, commandant of the Wisconsin Veterans' Home at Waupaca, formerly of La Crosse, and well known here, has been appointed judge advocate general on the staff of Commander in Chief Beers of the Grand Army of the Republic. This post is second in importance of the positions on the general staff of the G. A. R.

Colonel Bryant was an Ohio soldier, and advanced during the Civil war from his enlistment as private to major at the end of the struggle. Soon after the war closed, Colonel Bryant located in La Crosse as a lawyer. He was associated in business with General John A. Kellogg, last commander of the famous Iron Brigade.

Colonel Bryant succeeded General Kellogg as United States pension agent in La Crosse, and was at various times district attorney of La Crosse county, member of the assembly, county judge and postmaster.

Colonel Bryant succeeded the late J. H. Woodworth as commandant of the Waupaca home. He has been an active member of the grand army since 1866, and was commander of the department of Wisconsin in 1890. He was one of the founders of the veterans' home.

SUSTAINS TRADE COURT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—In its first decision at this term in railroad cases where the interstate commerce commission and the commerce court have clashed, the supreme court today sustained the commerce court. The commission had ordered the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern to establish late rail branch connections in southern Ohio with a freight carrying electric line. The commerce court held that a "spur" was not a branch, in the meaning of the interstate commerce law.

FIRE DESTROYS CANTON

VINCENT ASTOR RICH ON FRIDAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—William Vincent Astor on Friday will take his place with the richest men in the world. For the purposes of the inheritance tax, however, the estate is valued at $67,000,000. At least a return for that amount has already been made by the executors to the state comptroller.

BRITISH ENVOY TO U. S. WILL RETIRE

Official Confirmation of Approaching Resignation of Ambassador Bryce Given

SUCCESSOR NOT ANNOUNCED

Thought Sir Cecil Arthur Springrice Now in Sweden May Be Given the Post

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Official confirmation of the resignation of Ambassador James Bryce of Great Britain, was given at the British embassy today. The following statement of why the venerable diplomat voluntarily retired, was authorized: "The president has been informed of Mr. Bryce's intention to retire before long from his post as ambassador. He intimated his wish to do so to his majesty's government in July, 1911, more than a year ago, as by that time the questions which he came out for England to settle (including those relating to the North Atlantic fisheries, the boundary waters between the United States and Canada, fur sealing in Behring sea, and pecuniary claims outstanding between Great Britain and the United States) had all been disposed of."

"At the request of the British government, however, he remained in Washington to deal with certain other matters that were then pending. Mr. Bryce is retiring in order to devote himself to the completion of two works on which he has long been engaged. The time of his departure has not been fixed."

It is understood the ambassador will remain here till about January 1. No word concerning Bryce's successor could be obtained at the embassy today. Inquiries were referred to the state department. Messages of regret at his retirement poured in on Ambassador Bryce today. A string of autos and carriages brought friends who called personally. The ambassador, now 74 years of age, desired to round out his life by writing a number of books, and felt the duties of his diplomatic post here too exacting.

Sir Cecil Arthur Springrice, now British ambassador to Sweden, is talked of as probable successor. That this government would welcome Sir Cecil Arthur Springrice, now minister to Sweden, as ambassador to Great Britain to succeed Mr. Bryce, resigned, was learned at the state department today. The department received formal notification of Mr. Bryce's resignation today.

The British embassy let it become known today that Ambassador Bryce will endeavor to conclude the dispute over the Panama canal before he leaves.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The "cabinet makers" here shied a new name into the ring today. It was that of Representative Ralph W. Moss of Indiana. He possesses one of the finest farms in Clay county, Indiana, and his livestock is said to be some of the finest shipped in the Chicago market. He is prominent in the national grange.

WATER POWER TO OWN CITY RAILWAY CO.

Purchasers of Hatfield Property Identified as Owners of Local Street Car Option

GAS CO. DEAL IS SEPARATE

Positive Statement Made that No Connection Exists Between the Two Options

SECOND PAYMENT IS MADE

Additional $50,000 Installment Indicates that Big Transaction Will Soon Be Completed

The second payment on the option secured by Promoter McGuire for unidentified persons on the properties of the La Crosse Gas & Electric company has been paid.

The persons represented by the bondholders' committee that recently purchased the securities and properties of the La Crosse Water Power company are the holders of the option on the properties of the La Crosse City Street Railway company.

There is no connection, business association or understanding between the purchasers of the Water Power company bonds and the City Railway option on the one hand and the purchasers of the Gas and Electric company on the other.

Above are the latest developments in the transactions affecting the affairs of the local light, heat, power and traction companies as stated upon highest authority. The interesting feature of the news is that which purports to settle the mystery as to whether all the plants would be in the future combined under one management using Hatfield water power.

It is said that the second payment on the Gas and Electric company option amounted to $50,000, and that the total now paid is $85,000, a sufficient sum to indicate strongly that the deal will be completed, as to back out now would mean the loss of the entire amount paid by the purchasers.

Option Now Active

The option given on the City Railway properties, it now develops, was tentative. It was conditioned upon the confirmation by the federal court of the sale of the Water Power company property to the bondholders. The sale was made at Black River Falls shortly before the option was made public, and was confirmed by Judge A. L. Sanborn at Madison on Nov. 5. Immediately the street car option went into effect.

It was authoritatively asserted today that the bondholders' committee of the Water Power company purchased the street car option, not for any company now organized and doing business, but for individuals who will shortly incorporate for the purpose of running the Hatfield plant and the La Crosse and Winona utilities which they now control or expect to control.

A Contrary Indication

One probable fact suggests that the information of the present owners of the street car stock may be in error regarding connection between the two options. The Hatfield bondholders own that plant and the common stock in the Winona street car and lighting plants, and have an option on the control of the La Crosse street car property. Kelcey Brewer company owns the preferred stock in the Winona street car and lighting plants. The assertion is now positively made that Kelcey Brewer, and not Bylesby & Co., are the purchasers of the option on the La Crosse Gas and Electric company control. The community of interest is apparent, and that business reasons might exist for suppressing the association of the two deals is possible.

However, men with deep financial interest in the deals are convinced by assurances of that fact that they are distinct and separate, in support of which is presented the fact that Kelcey Brewer owns properties at Madison and Eau Claire as well as his Winona interests, and that companies of this character usually seek to group their holdings in territorial limits compact enough to render handling them together convenient.

DOG'S SKIN SAVES ARM FOR WOMAN

MENOMONIE, Wis., Nov. 11.—An unusual skin grafting operation, in which the skin of a dog's stomach was used in place of skin grafted from a human being, was performed Saturday by Dr. Carl E. Anderson at the Rhodes avenue hospital, Chicago, on Mrs. H. W. Johnson, wife of the postmaster of Menomonie, who applied at the hospital for treatment for a rodent ulcer which covered a space of five inches on her left elbow.

The dog was given an anesthetic and the necessary skin partially removed and grafted to Mrs. Johnson's arm. One end of the skin was not cut, however, and the dog will remain attached to the arm for several days.

HOUSTON WINS FROM RUSHFORD

HOUSTON, Minn., Nov. 11.—The Houston girls' basketball team won another victory at Rushford's expense Saturday by the score of 19 to 15. Considerable interest was shown at the outset of this game, as the Houston five is known as a very strong team, having won all games played this season. Quite a number of high school students accompanied their players to the neighboring city and showed their interest in their team by rooting very strenuously. The game was very close throughout. RURAL CENTER WORK INTERESTS ARKANSAS

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 11.—The extension of the social center movement into country communities of the state through the work of the college of agriculture of the University of Wisconsin, is attracting the attention of citizens of Arkansas. The state board of education of that state has just written to Professor C. J. Galpin, who is in charge of this line of work, asking for information and details of the exhibit of the department at the state fair. The exhibit consisted of a model of the $5,000 social center hall at Honey Creek, Wis., surrounded by the other buildings of the village, and the fields of bordering farms, showing how the welfare of each is dependent upon the other. This hall is only one of several. Another one was recently built at Spring Valley at a cost of $7,000. The people of the town were enthusiastic over the idea and are showing the farmers that the village people realize the interdependence of both and are willing to do their share toward starting a new social era.

SHOULD BE KEPT ON FARMS

Believes Criminally Unbalanced Should Not Be Allowed to Be Parents

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 11.—That from 25 to 60 per cent of the inmates of correctional institutions are not above the class of high grade imbeciles, and from these people spring a great majority of the criminals of the world, were two of the significant statements made here by President Walter F. Greenman of Milwaukee at the Wisconsin State Conference of Charities and Corrections which is meeting here in co-operation with the extension division of the University of Wisconsin.

"These persons never become capable of self-control, and deeds of violence, arson and murder immediately follow upon their release from custody. The women of this class are proved to have a fecundity about double that of normal women. The progeny of such parents is tainted with feeble mindedness. So the stream of the unfit widens daily," declared President Greenman.

Unit Should Be Segregated

"These people should be segregated according to sex in colonies of fifty upon farms," continued the speaker. "They should be committed on an indeterminate sentence. They can live happy and harmless lives, mostly in the open upon such farms. They would be almost self supporting and the expense to the state would not be one-twentieth what it now is to pay for court and police charges with the expense of maintenance of each delinquent and all his progeny for several generations, because the expense never stops with his death unless he has been prevented from becoming a parent."

Need Woman's Reformatory

"The lack of a woman's reformatory constitutes one of the most wasteful conditions in the state. There are always from ten to twelve girls in the state industrial school at Milwaukee must be released on reaching 21 years of age, but who are manifestly unfit to be returned to the community at large. For women over eighteen years of age we only have Waupun, the county jails and houses of correction. Of course, some of the women committed to these places may already be hardened criminals; but if a woman is not already hopeless, we condemn her to a life of habitual crime by committing her under the law to existing institutions. In recognition of this ghastly fact, some judges confess to their reluctance to commit and frequently suspend sentence, turning the delinquent woman back to her evil environment until she is again arrested for something worse so that she may be sent to Waupun."

Lauds Board of Control

Commenting upon the Wisconsin Board of Control which exercises supervision over penal institutions, Rev. Greenman said: "With one exception, the board has rendered an inestimable service in securing superintendents of ability and character for the state institutions. Under such superintendents there may be many conditions below standard but these conditions are never allowed to sink to the level of a scandal. Conditions below standard are due in such institutions to the fact that the public has not been educated in the requisitions needed and therefore the money has not been voted."

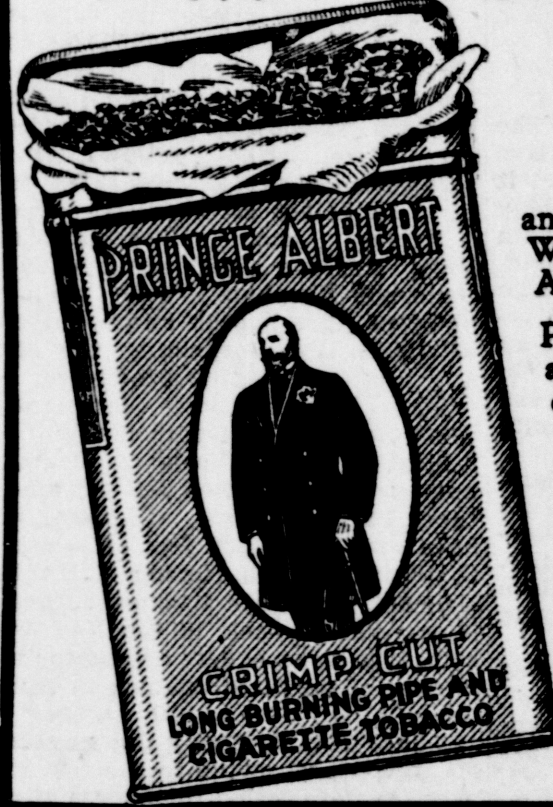

"Our system of caring for the insane is a good one and been soundly administered on the whole; we have no insane in almshouses. Our correctional institutions and almshouses are not nearly as bad as such institutions in states where there is no board of control. The reformatory at Green Bay is probably up to standard, but the state prison at Waupun and many county jails are not up to standard. Responsibility for discreditable policies at the state prison, in county jails and houses of correction cannot easily be placed upon the superintendents or the board of control, however, because statutes dealing with punishment and correction are archaic, and institutions established to carry out the provision of archaic statutes are necessarily archaic in their equipment. Any group of persons appearing before the judiciary committee of the state legislature asking that the statutes be brought up to the standard of modern legislation in penology are opposed by the officers of the penal institutions who declare that those institutions in no way fit the requirements of the proposed legislation. That is quite true, they do not. Were on the other hand, a new correctional institution to be built, and interested citizens appear urging again they are met by what seems an its construction along modern lines, unanswerable argument, that the archaic statutes would render such modern institutions useless. This absurd condition has lasted too long to be humorous. A commission in penology, co-operation with the state board and the county boards could quickly put an end to what constitutes a great disgrace to our state."

President Greenman says there is only one solution for the present appalling state of affairs in reference to Wisconsin's treatment of her criminals, delinquents and unfit. He proposes to have the state legislature

UNIVERSITY LEADS IN STUDY OF EARTH

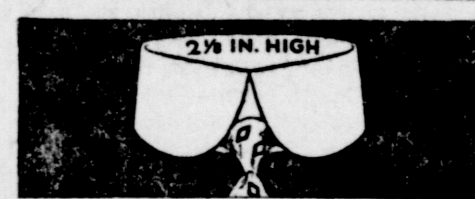

MADISON, Nov. 11.—That more students are studying geography at the University of Wisconsin than at any other university in the country is shown by a chart just compiled by Miss Huldah L. Winstead of the University of Minnesota. During the last collegiate year over 700 students were enrolled in geography classes at the state university, while only a little over 600 were enrolled in the same time at the University of Chicago, the nearest rival.

Statistics for 23 representative universities are given, and of these fourteen had 100 or more students enrolled during the year, while only four had less than 50 students in the geography classes. Only the universities of Montana and New Mexico had less than 25 students enrolled in these classes.

The remarkable growth of the study of geography in the University of Wisconsin is also worthy of notice. During the last ten years, the number of students in these classes has increased from 87 to 704.

appropriate funds for the maintenance of a board of control which is to consist of five members holding office during good behavior. One member should be an expert on lunacy, one on penology, one in charity, and one in finance, besides one named as president. To co-operate with the board of control in the care of all state and county institutions there should be three unpaid commissions, one in lunacy, one in charity, and one in penology. These commissions should receive no salary nor have an administrative power. Their functions should be solely visitatorial, inquisitorial and recommending. There should, likewise, be two skilled inspectors, one a woman, to inspect all institutions under the care of the board at least once a month. The reports of the day should be made in triplicate, one copy to be mailed at once to the proper representative on the board, another to the secretary of the proper commission, and one retained by the inspector for use in checking up conditions the following month.

NEW FIGHT BEGUN IN BADGER STATE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 11.—On the eve of the opening of the Christmas Seal campaign an epoch making announcement has just been made by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association to the effect that from now on, the fight against other contagious diseases will be taken up by that organization. In taking this advanced step in doing general public health work, the directors are according to a demand which has come from people, in every section of the state, who wish to see the same efficient educational work tried on typhoid, contagious and intestinal diseases of infancy and childhood, etc., that is procuring such remarkable results in the fight against consumption.

"Oh, no," said Dr. Dearholt, the executive secretary, in answer to a query, "we shall not let up an iota in the fight against tuberculosis. The time has arrived, however, when that work is pretty well cut out; when we know exactly what we are doing and why. We've got a staff of veterans now, who can do twice as much as they are now doing provided they are relieved of some of the details of work. From this on, there won't be any let-up at any season of the year. Needless duplication in office rent, telephone, traveling and other administrative expense, will be avoided by this move. More important than that, co-operation and co-ordination will prevent divided effort and working at cross purposes."

If the importance of this step is realized, the people will double their contributions in this Christmas Seal campaign, and get five times as much action and value for their money. Amongst other things that will be done is secure greater respect for health laws and health officials. We are going to try to teach as much as is known and set up such a demand for more knowledge on the part of the general public, that the scientists will have to sit up nights to keep ahead of the public knowledge.

MILWAUKEE TRAIN KILLS LABORER

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 11.—Paul Reinke, aged 28, a laborer, was killed by a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road train in the rear of the H. W. Johns-Manville plant, Wauwatosa. The body was mangled and could only be identified by a card found in his clothes.

MANY YOUTHS IN NEXT LEGISLATURE

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 11.—The new Wisconsin legislature will be notable for the number of "beardless youths" in its membership. There are a half dozen new members under thirty years of age. Assemblyman Jennings, elected in a rich Milwaukee district, is only 23. Douglas Anderson, of North Caledonia, is 26; Archie McComb, of Green Bay, is about 25; Fred L. Holmes, of Madison, is 29, and Rev. A. E. Friedrich of Kendall, known as the "fighting parson" of Monroe county, is about 30. In the state senate, George B. Skogmo of River Falls and Edward W. Ackley of Chippewa Falls are young men of about thirty years each.

MICHIGAN WOMEN WIN

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 11.—Women were certain of voting in the future. Complete returns, unofficial, today show a majority of upwards of 1,500 votes for the equal suffrage amendment submitted Tuesday. Notwithstanding their apparent victory, the suffragettes realized that a few votes thrown out in each county might convert victory into defeat and the county canvassers next Tuesday will be watched.

THIS WAS A GREAT CLEAN CAMPAIGN

The republican campaign in La Crosse county paid little heed to individuals, and was devoid of personalities other than those dealing with men's records in office, as to whether the records were in accord with the sentiment of the section. It was confined to debate upon the issues, and was throughout of a high order of intelligence. Indeed, taken as a whole this campaign more nearly approached the high plane upon which our politics should rest than has any other with which we are familiar. The republican party thanks Mr. J. E. Higbee for his splendid work in an uphill fight which he accepted at the outset with a keen appreciation of the probability of defeat under the pressure of the impending landslide.

WAR CORRESPONDENT A THING OF THE PAST

The day of the war correspondent is drawing to a close. With every succeeding war the reading public has an opportunity to note the increasing brevity of the actual news coming from the front. Columns of vague description and discussion of a discreetly general nature are sent over the wire, but actual news, especially news of contemplated movements, is very scarce.

In the present Balkan war little of a definite nature except as to events which already have taken place is given to the world. The reason is that the correspondents are not allowed to accompany the troops to the front but are kept in the rear. If they do happen to get hold of real news through their inadequate sources of information they are not allowed to send it. A rigid military censorship prevails and the dispatches are trimmed of everything which looks like genuine information. A correspondent who attempts to evade the system by crossing into neutral territory to send out news finds on his return that he is barred from the few privileges he did enjoy.

The development of modern sources of communication is the reason for the plight of the war correspondent. With telegraphs, wireless and telephones to spread news everywhere advance information as to the movement of troops easily could be sent to the enemy's capital and transmitted back to the field before the movement could be executed or even begun. Therefore, the modern military commanders, while treating correspondents politely and, in fact, giving them every comfort and convenience possible, guard them almost as they would prisoners.

The Crimean war of 1854 saw the rise of the war correspondent. In this conflict between Russia on the one hand and Great Britain, France and Turkey on the other the London Times smashed all precedents by sending a man to the front. In the Franco-German war of 1870, the American Civil war, the Russo-Turkish war of 1877, the Greek war of 1897 and the Spanish-American war of 1898 the war correspondent flourished. His sun began to set in the Russo-Jap war of 1904 and he was definitely below the horizon in the Turco-Italian war of 1911-12. He is even less in evidence in the present conflict, except as a mere transcriber of such matter as the military authorities see fit to give him.

AN UNBORN FUTURE OWES HIM THANKS

People are past being surprised when a member of the Hixon family does something big and generous for La Crosse. We have grown to expect such little courtesies as $50,000 to $100,000 contributions for parks and schools bestowed without formality or display.

One hates to use a dollar sign in relation to incidents like the Hixon presents. The sordid measure of commercial values has no place in our contemplation of gifts that to us and those who come after us mean culture and health, happiness and honor, more perfect manhood and womanhood. The modesty with which these splendid things have been done for us is a natural accompaniment of the generosity that gives so freely and the discrimination that selects the gift so wisely.

We cannot now—even those among us who have the far vision—appreciate the significance to future generations of Mr. Joseph M. Hixon's donation of all the best land available for parks in the vicinity of this city. In Washington a far-seeing mayor was ostracized from the city for twenty years because of his extravagance in providing parks for the future. In Chicago no such provisions were made. Today the once condemned Washington mayor is held in reverence in that city, while in Chicago they are tearing down million dollar buildings to get for the city some modest little breathing spaces.

As president of the park commission, Mr. Hixon, in addition to his actual personal contributions, has served La Crosse in a way to make him its everlasting benefactor. No remunerative office has been administered with the zeal and devotion he has shown in his honorary position. We do not understand it all now. The thing is just budding; the bloom and the fruit will follow. Perhaps we shall never fully understand. Perhaps Mr. Hixon himself will not see all the harvest of the ripened fruit. But the children we bear, and their children, will pay the full debt of appreciation.

After all, it isn't so much the parks and schools and public labor that come within our limited vision that are important. The truly big thing is this: that the hope of the nations is the men who are taking care of the future.

WHERE THE SHOT AND SHELL WERE THICKEST

While we are mentioning democrats for official honors, what's the matter with Kneen for United States marshal. Not that he would take it, he probably wouldn't. But no democrat in the state is entitled to a better line of credit with the new administration. He fought with the Wilson cohorts at Baltimore; he fought for a progressive ticket in Milwaukee; he accepted the goatship in the county fight and all but sacrificed his own political head by remaining conspicuously on the firing line where shoulder straps are always the target for sharpshooters.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

The Pessimist
There's been a whole lot written of the value of a smile,
But still the fellow that goes 'round a-smilin' all the while
And don't do nothin' else but smile,
Not matter what is said,
Don't seem in this world's goods to get so very far ahead.

You'll hear this idea harped on by the optimistic crowd,
There is a silver linin' bright to every gold ding cloud.
But when the cloud dissolves in air
and disappears from view,
The silver linin' gen'ally dissolves in thin air, too.

The darkest hour comes just before the dawn, they love to say,
Although your own pertickler dawn is twenty years away.
It never helps the fellow much that's workin' in the ditch
To hear that some day, possibly, perhaps he may be rich.
They say that all things surely come unto the man who waits,
But still there ain't a mite of hope for him who hesitates.
The fellow who don't wait, but goes right after things, you know,
He is the one who rings the bell and grabs off all the dough.

The optimists and pessimists can argue pro and con
And thrash out all the questions that they are debatin' on.
But after all is said and done, I think that you will find
That misery or happiness is just a state of mind.

Two old college chums lost sight of each other for years.
One day one of them, down on his luck, worn of face and of clothes, entered a cheap eating house and seated himself at a table.
"Yes, sir?" asked the shabby waiter.
Then the customer looked up and to his amazement recognized his old chum.
"Great Scott, man!" he exclaimed. "Fancy you having sunk to being a waiter, and in a place like this, too!"
The waiter turned up his nose.
"Yes, I am a waiter," he replied sarcastically, "but thank goodness, I don't eat here."

Mrs. Belmont's Irony
Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, in a suffragist argument in New York, said ironically of man's vaunted superiority:
"Oh yes, man is always superior to woman, isn't he? Take the matter of love, for example. A woman, we know, can always tell when a man is in love with her; but a man can go over so much farther than that. Why, the average man—"
Mrs. Belmont smiled subtly.
"The average man," said she, "frequently knows that a woman is in love with him even when she isn't."—New York Tribune.

J. Van Vechten Olcott of New York tells the story of how Rufus Choate got from a witness the finest definition ever heard of absent-mindedness.
"What do you think is absent-mindedness?" asked Choate, who was putting the witness through a hot-cross-examination.
"Well," replied the witness, in a slow, deliberate tone, "if a man who thought he had left his watch at home, took it out of his pocket to see if he had time to go back and get it, I would call him a kettle absent-minded."—Popular Magazine

Returning from school the other afternoon, a little girl informed her mother that she had learned how to "punctuate."
"Well, dear," said her mother, "and how is it done?"
"Why, when you write 'Hark!' you put a hatpin after it; and when you ask a question you put a button hook."—Lippincott's Magazine.

"By Jove," said Dingleberry, enthusiastically, "look at that girl sitting on the beach there. Isn't she a perfect Naia!"
"Nope," said Wigglesworth. "She hasn't been near the water—she's more of a Dry-ad."—Harpers Weekly.

La Crosse Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens—Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of La Crosse given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which proved so beneficial years ago with the kidneys, can naturally be expected to perform the same work in similar cases. Read this:

L. L. Brown, 229 Main St., La Crosse, Wis., says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and found them to be just as represented. There was lameness across my back and although I rubbed myself with liniments, I grew worse. Being advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply and they cured me. I have since recommended this remedy to other people and I have heard it praised highly by everyone who has used it. The cure I told of in my previous testimonial has been permanent. You may continue the publication of my former statement."

SPOTLIGHTS

MAY ROBSON
All of the djectives in Webster's unabridged dictionary, describing a vivacious farce comedy are applicable to "A Night Out," which May Robson will begin at the La Crosse theater tomorrow night. "A Night Out" has more laughs than a dozen repeated comedies. The humor and repartee are so rapid that the auditor has only half recovered from one laugh spasm before another is in order. May Robson's acting is a joy. See her and pick your own adjectives. Her skill with such droll parts has long been beyond that of any other American actress. The company surrounding May Robson is exceptional in that each respective role is so well handled.

"A MODERN EVE"
Arrangements have been completed for the presentation in New York city of "A Modern Eve," the Mort H. Singer musical success which comes to this city one night at the La Crosse theater, November 19. When "A Modern Eve" invades the eastern metropolis for a winter run, it will be the only musical offering in stage history to be simultaneously presented in practically all Europe and America's important cities. Victor Hollaender and Jean Gilbert, Germany's most popular composers have imbued "A Modern Eve" with a spirit of melody contained in such wonderful song hits as the famous "Good-bye Everybody" waltz, "Rita, My Marguerita," "Hello Sweetheart," "You're Such a Lonesome Moon Tonight."

FISKE O'HARA
The attraction booked at La Crosse theater for November 20, is that most popular delineator of Celtic character roles, Fiske O'Hara, who will bring his latest Irish romance, "The Rose of Kildare." This young player, who has come to the front in the last couple of seasons, promises to be something more than a mere singing comedian. His clear insight into dramatic interpretation of a character or scene is far above any of his contemporaries in that line and he now ranks with the best of them in his performances of the popular type of Irish roles. He has been equipped with a splendid play of Irish life by Edward Paulton and Charles Bradley, two playwrights of experience, and they have given him a story of the 18th century life in Ireland with the central figure one of these gaudy characters in which Charles Lever used to delight.

THE MARRIAGE OF CAPTAIN KETTLE

By C. J. Cuddehe Hynne.
Copyright The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

Rapidly behind them the disabled steamer dipped out of sight below the sierra of the horizon, and presently they had the heaving crests of the ocean to themselves. Great orange-yellow islets of the Sargasso weed sprawled here and there over the rich blue of the water, and these, when possible, they avoided; iridescent flying-fish scattered along beside them and before their bows; and astern a brace of sea-fowl that had detached themselves from the steamer's convoy, kept accurate station. The blackguardly crew found something vaguely disquieting in the presence of these birds, and at first observed their coming with gloomy silence, and then with articulate grumblings.

"Not here for nothing, them birds," said Baldhead. "They know a thing or two. It isn't for galley scraps they're following this boat."
"They say those gulls is de ghosts of ole sailors trowned at sea," said Olsen. "I vonders what it feels like to fly!"
"They picks yo' eyes out befo' yo' daid," said the Carolina black. "I sho' don't like the neb of that bird dere to stabboard. He's mos' as big's a Tampico turkey-buzzard."

A puff of squall poured down against them. Kettle luffed not an inch but kept the boat rigidly on her course. The wave-tops (as he intended) poured in over the lee gunwale.
"Bail, you sinful malingers," he bawled at them. "Bail and keep your legs dry and the ship afloat. I'll attend to your souls when the time comes. Mr. Jenkins, you come aft and take the lee tiller beside me. You've got to learn to handle the boat sometime, and a nice light breeze like this is just the time to begin. There you are! Now you've got her all by your shivering self, and mind you keep her ramming full. Don't you dare to luff for a foot of wave-top."

The men were scared and sullen, and the method of their schooling was brutal, but they improved hour by hour. There was a spare tiller in the boat, a lousy cudgel of oak, and this the mate used vigorously over their heads and shoulders whenever they were slow, or dense, or in any way short of the perfect seaman. Discipline was carried on big-shipped fashion. They fed at appointed hours on a sparing ration; they drank lime-juice in their musky water, as ordained by the British Board of Trade; and bells were struck every halfhour on a tin bucket with dingdong regularity.

Twice they passed derelicts, stuck in the Sargasso eddy. The first was a steamboat with only her forepart showing, green with seagrasses. The other was a fourmasted schooner spruce with new paint, obviously a new arrival. Here was a sea mystery that would have tempted the most incurious. Here also would be some very obvious pickings. But the crew were by this time under a good discipline and did no more than look longingly at her. They rose her over the horizon, drove past her and dropped her under the horizon astern, and as Mr. Kettle, the mate, made no suggestion of boarding, no one else dared to voice a hint in that direction.

They made their southing and got to the far side of the steam lane without seeing smoke or spar of traffic, and then after beating tediously back and forth for another day, were overtaken by a gale which was too heavy for even the mate's hard darning to carry sail in. He held on, it is true, till his men were three parts dead with terror, and then with his boat half water-logged, rounded her to, and rode out the breeze to a sea-anchor of spars.

Twice during this blow they saw steamers to windward of them heading for the islands, and three brine-washed boats plunging eastward, but all were out of hall, or what is more to the point, made no response to any signals Mr. Kettle or his men could fly.

Rain pelted down on them during the squalls, and they caught it in the sails, and decanted the grimy brackish proceeds into their water beakers. Flying-fish blew on board in the spindrift, and these they ate raw and wished there were more of them. And once a brace of bonitos followed the smaller fry, and they gorged on these and for once were pleasantly filled. The small amount of food they had brought from the Norman Towers had run out by this time, and they were all looking thin and wolfish.

HOW TO CUT DOWN LIVING EXPENSES

Any La Crosse family can make a big saving and also be much healthier by eating the deliciously appetizing "Minnesota" Spaghetti at least twice each week in place of meat.
"Minnesota" Spaghetti is four times as nutritious as beefsteak and yet costs only about one cent a dish. It contains more proteins than most foods and is therefore more strength giving and less fattening. It is fine for children—making their bodies strong and healthy. And they are very fond of its rich, nut-like flavor.
Insist on getting the genuine "Minnesota" Spaghetti, made from the VERY BEST DURUM wheat with ALL the wonderfully nourishing Gluten left in.

RHEUMATISM

URIC ACID CAUSES IT—S.S.S. CURES IT

Every variety of Rheumatism is caused by an excess of uric acid in the blood; the different forms of the disease depending on whether this uric acid settles in the nerves, muscles or joints. In Sciatica it is the nerves which are attacked, the muscular form shows the muscles to be the seat of trouble, while manifestations of articular Rheumatism are evidence that the joints are being diseased. To cure Rheumatism the uric acid must be removed from the blood; the circulation must be made pure. This cannot be accomplished with external applications; such treatment may furnish temporary relief from the pain, but it does not reach the producing cause. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism of every variety and form because it purifies the blood. It goes down into the circulation, neutralizes the acids and dissolves the irritating deposits which are pressing on the sensitive nerves and tissues, and producing pain. Whether your case of Rheumatism be acute or chronic S. S. S. is the medicine you need; it will cure you and at the same time build up the entire system by its fine vegetable tonic effects. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

collected up forward and put their heads together, and from among them presently came Jenkins, half-shamefaced, half-defiant, and sat down aft.

"I stand by you, sir," he said to the mate.
"Of course," said Kettle, "you have to since I made you an officer. And it will be good practice for you, though if I had been put to it, I could have handled the whole outfit without straining myself."

The others heard and their courage oozed; and when it came to the point they put as a request what they had intended to dish up as a command.
They were hungry, thirsty, miserable; the Sargasso was a desert; they were one and all covered with salt-water boils; provisions and water were all gone; and presently they would all die, and the boat would blow about on that unkind sea, a water-logged derelict full of corpses. If they ran for the nearest land, which would offer food, drink, shelter, warmth, they might yet escape with bare life. But it must be now, without a moment's delay. . . .

Baldhead was the speaker. He was quite a young man, with a fine emotional touch to his oratory.
"Really finished?" the mate inquired when he had talked himself out.
"Yes, sir, that is what we have to say."

"And you said it very well. I wish I'd brought along the accordion. I should like to set that tale to music and hear you sing it—your son of a play-actress. You're overfed and underworked, that's what's the matter with you. You're spoiling for the want of a job, and, by James, I'm the man to give you one! This boat wants smartening up. So to begin with, you take your knife and scrape spars. The Senegambian, who has also a knife which he's aching to use, will help you. Now jump, you sweep, or, by the living James, I'll knock more stars out of you with the tiller than ever were stuck up in the sky!"
They jumped. The others, unbid-

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.
Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of Dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.
Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful.
You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.—Advertisement.

RoseFARM MORTGAGES
SHOW INCREASE

17.7 Per Cent of Farms in the United States Are Incumbered Since 1900

NOT LACK OF PROSPERITY

Debt in Many Cases Is Contracted to Pay for Needed Farm Machinery

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Statistics with reference to mortgage indebtedness of the farms of the United States are given in a report soon to be issued by Director Durand of the bureau of the census, department of commerce and labor. The report was prepared under the supervision of John Lee Coulter, expert special agent for agriculture.

The total number of farms in the United States operated by their owners, which were mortgaged in 1910 is 1,327,439; while 621,283 were reported as free from mortgage. These figures show an increase since 1900 of 17.7 per cent in the number of farms mortgaged; and of 4.4 per cent in the number of farms free from mortgage. The report will show that 58,104 farms were operated by managers—a decrease of 7.7 per cent since 1900, and 2,354,676 farms were operated by tenants, an increase of 16.3 per cent since 1900. No statistics pertaining to mortgage indebtedness were secured for farms operated by tenants or hired managers. It would be practically impossible in many cases to reach the owners of such farms to ascertain the facts.

The total value of the land and buildings of the 1,006,511 farms for which both the fact of mortgage indebtedness and its amounts were reported was $6,330,000,000, and the amount of debt was $1,726,000,000 or 27.3 per cent of the value. The corresponding proportion in 1890 as shown in the reports was 35.5 per cent. There was thus, during the twenty years a marked diminution in the relative importance of mortgage debt on the farm mortgaged, due primarily to the very rapid increase in the value of the land in farms. The average amount of mortgage indebtedness per farm increased from $1,224 in 1890 to $1,716 in 1910, but the average per farm increased from $2,444 to $6,289 and therefore the owner's equity per farm increased from $2,220 to $4,574 or more than double.

The statistics with reference to the number of farms mortgaged for the past three censuses are not precisely comparable although nearly so. At the census of 1910 questions as to mortgage debt applied to all farms operated by owners, while at the two preceding censuses they applied only to the smaller class of "owned farm homes;" those farms occupied by their owners as homes.

Mortgages and Prosperity

In making comparisons between geographic divisions and between censuses it should be borne in mind that the fact of mortgage indebtedness is not necessarily an indication of lack of prosperity. There can be no question but that American farmers generally were more prosperous in 1910 than at the two previous censuses and yet in that year a larger proportion of the farms were mortgaged. The proportion of mortgaged indebtedness is higher in Iowa and Wisconsin than in any of the other states and yet these states are among the most prosperous in agriculture. Although in some cases mortgages are placed on farms because of poor crops or other misfortunes or because of mismanagement, they often represent an unpaid portion of the cost of the farm itself, or money expended for additional land or for buildings and implements and machinery and livestock.

In the United States as a whole the number of farms or farm homes operated or occupied by their owners, which were free from mortgage increased much less rapidly during each of the last two census decades than the number mortgaged. The proportion mortgaged was 28.2 per cent in 1890, 31.1 per cent in 1900, and 35.6 per cent in 1910. In 1910 the proportion of owned farms mortgaged was highest (46.1 per cent) in the west north central; the lowest proportion (18.8 per cent, 22.7 per cent and 20.8 per cent respectively) being in the south Atlantic, east south central and mountain divisions.

In every geographic division except the middle Atlantic the proportion of farms mortgaged was greater in 1910, and in every division except the west north central the proportion was greater in 1910 than in 1890. The most conspicuous increase in proportion of farms mortgaged has been in the three southern divisions. In 1910 there was no very great difference among the several geographic divisions with respect to the ratio of indebtedness to the value of land and buildings, the highest ra-

A Little Sage and Sulphur Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for All Hair Troubles

Who does not know the value of Sage and Sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, Sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than Sage and Sulphur, if properly prepared.

The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put out an ideal preparation of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for keeping the hair and scalp in clean, healthy condition.

If your hair is losing its color or constantly coming out, or if you are troubled with dandruff or dry, itchy scalp, get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, use it according to the simple directions, and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in the appearance of your hair.

All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented. O. T. Erhart.—Advertisement.

Constitutional Amendment Providing Reform Is Passed by Colorado Voters

DENVER, Col., Nov. 11.—Every elective and appointive official in Colorado including judges, will be subject to the recall when the constitutional amendment submitted at Tuesday's election goes into effect. The judicial decision amendment provides for the recall only of decisions by the state supreme court involving the legality of an amendment to the state constitution.

to being 34.5 per cent in the middle Atlantic division and the lowest, 23.4 per cent in the Pacific division. In every division the ratio of indebtedness to value was materially lower in 1910 than in 1890.

FIRE DESTROYS
PETASKA BARN

$1,200 Loss in North Side Blaze; Flock of Geese Survive the Flames

A fire of unknown origin last night caused the destruction of the barn owned by Frank Petaska, 600 block on Kane street, and also fifteen tons of hay which was stored in the building. Several harnesses, a sleigh, carriage and some farm machinery were also burned. The loss is estimated at more than $1,200. Three horses and several cows which were in the building at the time were taken out before the flames reached them and they were all that was saved.

The fire originated in the interior of the building and before fire company No. 2 could reach the scene the barn was wrapped in flames. Because of the fact that the streets are torn up on Caledonia and several other streets the department was handicapped in reaching the fire as a roundabout way had to be taken. This delayed them somewhat as the horses had a hard time pulling the heavy wagons through the sandy street. The reflection of these flames on the sky could be seen for great distances.

Because of the great headway which the flames had secured and due to the fact that the fire was an interior one, Company No. 2 was compelled to remain on the scene from shortly after eight o'clock until 2:30 this morning. The great quantity of hay in the barn made the fire a difficult one to extinguish.

After the fire had been put out a number of geese walked out from under the barn where they had hidden unknown to anybody. As the floor is built up somewhat higher than the ground it is thought they stayed in the middle of that space while the firemen were pouring water all around them and that this saved them. They seemed to be uninjured this morning.

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis.

The Misses Mary and Amalia Rosenbaum were hostesses at a very pleasant card party at their home on Minnesota street Saturday afternoon. Eight tables of five hundred were played and the prize, a handsome silver flower basket, was won by Mrs. Alexander Athey. Assisting the hostesses were Mrs. J. P. Evans, Mrs. L. D. Dousman, Miss Josie Clinton and Miss Mary Rowley, in addition to whom the guests included Mesdames Charles Grelle, Jr., T. J. Bergen, Buhsse of Minneapolis, W. T. Pinkerton, F. E. Walbridge of Stevens Point, P. L. Scanlon, W. A. Hall, E. I. Kidd, E. M. Wright, R. D. Davis, J. W. Paris, Pryor of Guttenberg, Ia., R. W. Falls, William Cramer of McGregor, Jule Vernon, F. J. Antoine, S. A. Eddy, R. R. Harris, E. C. Amann, F. S. Clinton, Edward McCloskey, J. S. Earl, J. C. Rowley and Kate Case; and the Misses Stella Savage, Marilla Grelle, Anna Otto, Agnes Pinkerton and Mary Murphy.

Relatives here have received information of a severe injury to William Atchison, proprietor of the Hotel Law, La Crosse, received while cranking his automobile on Friday. The crank slipped off and struck Mr. Atchison with great force, breaking one of his arms and inflicting other bruises.

It is probable that Prairie du Chien may have another first class hotel in the near future. Mr. Zimmerman, a McGregor hotel man, is contemplating leasing or buying the old Music Hall block on Bluff street and converting it into a modern and up-to-date hotel building. The location is admirable for such a project and the change would be a great improvement to that block on Bluff street.

Among the ladies entertaining for the library chain the past few days are Mesdames Max Cardine, C. E. Amann, N. Haskell, J. G. Widman and Edward McCloskey.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Evert, Jr., entertained a company of friends Saturday evening in honor of Mrs. Florence Drummond Nelson of Dubuque. Mrs. Nelson, who gave a concert in McGregor Friday evening under the auspices of the Congregational church, sang a number of delightful selections, with Mrs. Evert as accompanist.

TEACH CHILDREN
TO LIVE HAPPILY

Cleveland Public Schools to Have Department Devoted to Health and Amusement

PLAN SOCIAL CENTER CLUBS

Every School Building to Be Home of Organization for Parents and Child

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 11.—"To teach children how to live—to live happily, healthily and capably."

In the opinion of Cleveland public officials, this is the fundamental thing under the educational system. And it is the object of extension work undertaken for this school term. The establishment of a new department of school hygiene and the extension of school social centers throughout the city are designed to accomplish the single result of teaching children how to grow mentally and physically in a way most interesting to the children themselves.

"What shall it profit a child to gain an education and lose his health?" is the question asked by Dr. E. A. Peterson, head of the hygiene department, in urging parents to lend their encouragement and active assistance.

Social Center Clubs

Within a few weeks social center clubs will have been formed in every Cleveland public school. Mrs. Sarah E. Hyre, principal of Brownell school, long a Cleveland teacher and champion of this work, took the lead by adding the organization of three clubs for boys and girls to study civics. The buildings will be open at night at the clubs and the children's parents. Virtually the whole community about Brownell school will engage in the study of civics through the winter months.

In the broad work for hygiene, the increasing prevalence of ocular trouble is to be combated through co-operation with every outside agency.

"We have known for years that ocular trouble increases in schools from the first to the eighth grades," said Dr. Peterson, "but why it is, no one has ever explained. We wish to study this trouble and correct it. We may find it is due to the wrong color of paper or the size of type."

"Also, we will find out what causes nervous disorders among pupils. We will make the boy and girl so interested in the school room that they will be happiest there, because they will see that to live and study rightly will make them grow into strong men and women."

The department of hygiene combines with the regular medical inspection instruction school nursing, personal and public hygiene, physical training, recreation and school sanitation. An elaborate outline of the work made by Dr. Peterson requires the fullest measure of co-operation from parents.

Detection of communicable disease and mental and physical defects and their correction are accomplished with the aid of the family physician, board of health, juvenile court, dispensaries and city charities.

Learn Nursing

By assisting the medical inspector in the treatment of minor cases and making follow-up calls at homes, pupils are given a chance to learn the fundamentals of nursing. Personal talks and demonstrations form an important part of the lessons in hygiene. Lectures, visits to the home and printed matter are offered to enlighten boys and girls on this general subject.

Dr. Peterson emphasizes the importance of physical training in the school. This first increases the vitality and endurance, but is not restricted to outdoors play. Children are taught how to sit and stand and walk in the school room. Trained leadership is provided for recreation.

What the children learn at school about school sanitation is expected to be valuable to many families in their homes. They will be taught to take pride in good hygiene environment about buildings and the care of school and home grounds; also, the proper ventilation, heat, light and seating facilities.

FREAK ELECTION
BETS ARE PAID

Two bets made on the recent election were paid yesterday on the North side and a large crowd was on hand to see them carried out.

J. P. Moore, who bet wrong on the race for the assembly with Geo. Webber, had to convey Webber in a wheelbarrow down Mill street. With a wheelbarrow which was gaudily decorated Moore wheeled Webber down Mill street while crowds lined both sides of the street.

Henry Kneebes, who lost an election bet to Fred Roth, pulled Roth from the Dew Drop Inn on Rose street down to the South side in a carriage. After reaching Fourth and Main streets, they turned around and after going down several of the streets they returned.

Roth bet on John A. Weber for sheriff.

OLD FEUD BREAKS INTO NEW FLAME

Cox-Truby War in Colorado
Re-opens with Ambushing of Leader of Truby Clan

DURANGO, Colo., Nov. 11.—An old feud between the Cox and Truby families living near here flamed anew here today, following the shooting from ambush yesterday of David McCollough and Samuel Truby by in Cox Canyon. Truby is dying at a local hospital, and McCollough is seriously wounded. The two men lay for six hours in the desolate canyon, until McCollough was able to climb into his saddle, and ride for help.

Truby is the leader of the Truby clan. Two years ago Isaac Cox shot and killed Wm. Truby while riding through the canyon. Cox was released on bail and two days later was himself shot and seriously wounded.

ISLE LA PLUME IN FLAMES AGAIN

A crew of firemen worked for hours Saturday and early Sunday morning extinguishing a fire on the Isle la Plume. The island, which is composed largely of sawdust and old timbers, began to burn late Saturday afternoon, presumably from a match dropped by children who were playing there. A crew of eight men were sent from No. 3 fire station to keep the fire under control. As it continued the firemen were relieved by crews of men from other fire houses. The fire was finally extinguished shortly after midnight. Fires have occurred on the Isle la Plume annually for several years.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache—this is indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases, then you will understand why dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. Diapepsin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many Diapepsin cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever try a little for indigestion or gastritis or any other stomach misery.

MANY INVITATIONS FOR GOV. WILSON

President-elect Refuses All Requests to Make Speeches Before Inauguration

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 11.—It was stated at Governor Wilson's home today that since his election as president he has received enough invitations to make addresses in various sections of the United States and to appear at various functions to keep him busy right up to inauguration day. None has been accepted and it is not believed the president-elect will consent to making a public appearance before he is inaugurated unless some extraordinary event materializes. The governor was amused when told that there were seven Presbyterian churches in Washington, all of which were anxious to be selected as the place where the president and vice president, both of whom are Presbyterians, shall worship.

The president-elect's mail continues to grow despite his most determined efforts to reduce its volume. While many of the letters are personal congratulations there are others that suggest men for jobs and still others which explain to the president-elect what he ought to do when he gets to Washington.

SOCIETY

ROELICH-BURGMAYER
SHERWOOD, Ore., Nov. 5.—(Special.)—Tuesday morning, October 29, at 8 o'clock, the parish of St. Anthony's church of Tigard, Ore., was the scene of the wedding of Miss Elizabeth A. Burgmayer, recently of La Crosse, Wis., and Mr. John J. Roelich of Sherwood, Ore. The marriage service was read by Rev. Father Pius Niermann. Mrs. Clara Roelich of Sherwood, Ore., a sister of the bride, assisted as matron of honor, and Mr. Louis W. Roelich of Sherwood, a brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The bride was given into the keeping of the bridegroom by his brother, Mr. Louis W. Roelich.

The bride was daintily gowned in cream satin with trimmings of silk medallions, a flowing tulle veil held in place by a spray of orange blossoms, fell to the hem of her bridal gown. She carried a shower bouquet of white bride roses. Mrs. Clara Roelich was nattily gowned in a fawn colored serge over white. She wore an ecru lace bolero, a black velvet beaver hat completing the costume. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony in the evening at 8:30 o'clock, an informal reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis W. Roelich of Sherwood, Ore. The color scheme in the dining room was red and white hearts and autumn foliage; the living room was charmingly decorated in autumn foliage and sword ferns. Part of the evening was spent in dancing to the strains of the Sherwood band in the Star hall. Suddenly, between the hours of nine and ten o'clock, a chorus of tin cans, cow bells, etc., greeted all in the immediate vicinity. The charivari band had appeared upon the scene. At the hour of midnight a very generous lunch was served, fifty-one guests being present. Some very charming and handsome gowns were apparent among the guests. The happy couple were the recipient of many beautiful and useful presents.

Mrs. John J. Roelich, only recently became a resident of Sherwood, having formerly resided in La Crosse, going for a trip to the far west with her mother, Mrs. M. Burgmayer, to visit her sister, Mrs. Louis W. Roelich of Sherwood, and the rose carnival in Portland, Ore., of the past season. The visit resulted in the romance. She is an accomplished musician.

Mr. John J. Roelich is a prominent young man of Sherwood and is in the implement and hardware business with his brother, Mr. Louis W. Roelich, and is also a member of the Sherwood band.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roelich expect to make their home in Sherwood and have the good wishes of all for their future happiness. They will be at home to their many friends after November 20, on Cedar avenue.

BADGER ENGINEER MAKES IMPACT TESTS

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 11.—To find the effect of the speed of a train on the stresses in bridge members, Dean E. A. Turneaure of the College of Engineering of the University of Wisconsin conducted a series of tests covering four years on 45 bridges varying from 50 to 500 ft. in length. About 20,000 records were taken.

In order that comparative results might be obtained all tests were made with the same train whose weight was known. This train was moved across the bridge at varying speeds gradually increasing from about five miles an hour to the maximum that the engine could give, which in one case was 100 miles an hour. During the passage of the train, instruments fastened to different parts of the bridge gave records of the stresses, and a comparison of the records taken on a firm truss member for varying speed of trains gave an idea of the impact effect.

The tests show that the old empirical formulas in use give impact stresses much larger values than the actual ones shown by tests. A new formula was deduced, based on the tests, and its use will result in a saving of material in the truss members, as this new formula gives a clearer estimate of the impact stresses. As there are still some points to be cleared up by further experiments, the new formula has not yet been adopted by the American Railway Engineering association.

JOHNSON WORRIED BY HIS PLIGHT

Arrogance Leaves Him After Spending Third Night in Chicago Jail Cell

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—It was a very meek Jack Johnson who today began his third day in cell 200 in the "bull pen" of the Cook county jail. The arrogance and sneering indifference which stayed with him through the first few hours of his confinement while awaiting trial on a charge of violating the Mann law prohibiting trafficking in women, was entirely gone today.

Anxiously Johnson awaited news of the fight which will be started today to induce the United States supreme court to order his release on a habeas corpus writ. Federal Judge Carpenter refused to issue the writ Saturday, and Attorney Bachrach for the negro pugilist, was due to reach Washington today to seek a hearing before the highest court in the country. He also planned to attack the constitutionality of the Mann law by alleging that matters of vice should be regulated by individual states and not by the federal government. Mr. Johnson asked to be told of any action taken as soon as possible. Two religious services were attended by Johnson yesterday, the Methodist Mission services in the morning and the Catholic Sunday school in the afternoon.

EQUALIZATION BOARD SPLITS

Majority and Minority Reports to Go to Board of Supervisors Tomorrow

GIEFER IS NON-COMMITTAL

Neither Side Ready to Accept Other's Attempt to Compromise the Question

Indications this afternoon are that a minority and majority report will be submitted to the county board of supervisors by the board of equalization at the opening of the November meeting tomorrow.

The city members of the board offered two propositions in an effort to compromise and the country members offered a third proposition but the opposing factions both declare that the proposition of the other cannot be considered.

That Supervisor Joseph Giefer may sign the report of the country members, thus making their report the majority report, is possible from his attitude this afternoon. Mr. Giefer refused to endorse the propositions submitted by the other city members or to give his opinion on that of the country members.

City Propositions

The first proposition submitted by Supervisor John Kindley was to increase the assessment of merchandise and merchants' stock in the city of La Crosse 25 per cent of the original assessment. The original assessment was doubled by J. E. Keltzer, income tax assessor. This would bring the city assessment on this class of property to $2,887,500 instead of $4,620,000 as the assessment now stands.

The second proposition was to increase the original assessment on this class of property 50 per cent in all districts of the county; to increase the assessment on cattle from $30 per head to $35, on sheep from $4.50 to $5, on swine from $11 to $15, to increase the number of assessable sleds and carriages in the country districts by 4,000 and to increase the assessed valuation on sleds and carriages in the country districts $20 each.

Country Proposition

V. S. Keppel's proposition was to increase the original assessment on merchandise and merchants' stock 62½ per cent of the original assessment and to deduct $50,000 on the total assessment of the town of Washington.

Supervisor Keppel received the support of the country members and Supervisor Kindley of the city members on the endorsement of their propositions and the refusal to consider the propositions of the opposition, with the exception of supervisor Giefer, who refused to endorse the propositions of either side.

Mr. Giefer today declared that he desires a peaceful settlement and made efforts at this afternoon's meeting to persuade the other city members to make further concessions to the country faction.

Cox announced today that he was picking a committee of experts to go to Wisconsin next week to make a study of the progressive laws of that state, with a view of placing whatever information they get there at the service of the coming Ohio legislature. NINETEEN KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

Twenty of Fifty-four Injured Will Die as Result of Freight Hitting Excursion

THE ORDERS WERE MISREAD

Passenger Stops for Water and Heavy Train Plows Into Rear Coaches

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 11.

Nineteen persons are dead, fifty-four injured, twenty fatally, as a result of a rear-end collision between a freight and an excursion train on the Yazoo and Mississippi railroad, near Montz, early today. Thirteen were killed outright, and six died after being brought to the Charity hospital here. Seven whites are among the dead and a like number among the injured. The rest are negroes.

The wreck was due to a misunderstanding of orders. The passenger train, returning from New Orleans with pleasure-seekers who spent the day there, had stopped for water when the fast freight, running fifty miles an hour, crashed into the rear end. Three coaches were telescoped, and those killed outright were ground to pieces by the heavy engine. Five babies and three women are among the dead. Of the injured, eighteen are women and twenty children.

WILL PICK DIPLOMATS

WILSON MUST FILL PLACES OF TEN AMBASSADORS AND THIRTY-TWO MINISTERS WHO WILL RESIGN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—When President Wilson begins his direction of American governmental affairs, one of his first tasks will be the selection of a diplomatic corps. Ten ambassadors and thirty-two ministers will all tender their resignations, effective March 4. It was the general belief that probably Charles R. Crane of Chicago would be a likely choice to succeed Whitehall Reid at London. Doudolph Spreckles of California was believed to be a possibility for Berlin or Paris. Among the other democrats talked of for diplomatic posts are David R. Francis of St. Louis and Edgar H. Farrar of New Orleans.

DEMOCRATS MAY BOSS ASSEMBLY

The Stand-pat Republicans Thought Likely to Switch to Beat Out the Progressives

SOCIALISTS OPPOSE DEMS

If Reactionaries Join the Minority Socialists Will Help Progressive Republicans

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 11.—(Special.)

While the republicans have a voting majority of three or four votes in the next Wisconsin assembly, astute politicians believe that there are enough of the conservative members to jeopardize the reorganization of the house on an entire progressive basis. Although complete returns are not yet in, the present indications are that twelve conservative republicans have been elected. This may permit a combination being made between the latter and the democrats for the control of the assembly. Should such a move be made, it is said that the socialists will combine with the progressive republicans. There are six socialist members.

Although the candidacies of three men—Ray J. Nye of Superior, Merlin Hull of Black River Falls, and Thomas J. Mahon of Eland—have practically been announced, a political lineup is being formed which is intended to sidetrack all these candidates and to spring a dark horse. In the next legislature will sit several men of long business training who, although not looked upon as parliamentarians, are considered good available timber for the speaker. Only a few times has the Wisconsin assembly elected a speaker with no previous membership in the legislature. One such example was E. G. Ryan of Racine county, later chief justice of the Wisconsin supreme court.

Thomas J. Mahon is making his campaign for speaker upon the bull moose platform. He claims that Governor McGovern could not have been re-elected if it had not been for his espousal of the bull moose cause. Ray Nye is forcing to the front as a feature of his platform a business administration by the legislature. He says he favors progressive legislation but believes the next legislature can complete its work in much less time than did the last five sessions. Merlin Hull, a champion of the common schools at the last two sessions, looms up now as a speaker-ship possibility because the most effective legislation at the coming session will, he believes, be in the interest of the common schools, in line with the republican platform.

U. S. AERONAUTS BELIEVED SPIES

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—John Watts, the American aeronaut, who, with A. T. Atherholt, sailed the German balloon Dusseldorf from Cannstatt, will sail for the United States on November 16.

Watts attributed his five days' detention by the Russian authorities wholly to the fact that the Russian consul at Stuttgart failed to note on his passport the fact that he was sailing the Dusseldorf instead of the Kansas City, which blew up while being inflated. Watts was still suffering today from the rough treatment he and Atherholt underwent while trying to convince the Russians that they were not German spies.

STORM SIGNAL UP FOR COUNTY BOARD

At Least Two Fights Are Scheduled for Sessions Which Open Tomorrow

Question of Applying Road-house License Money to Roads to Come Up

If the weather man included the meetings of the county board in his prognostications, it is very probable that the storm signal would be hung over the court house today in anticipation of the session which begins tomorrow. The outlook is decidedly "unsettled" with the indications that Valentine Keppel, the supervisor of the town of Onalaska, and John Kindley, of the city of La Crosse, will be the center of the storm.

Besides the tax fight which will be carried into the board meeting from the board of equalization where it has been making things lively for the last week, it is understood that the town of Campbell road appropriation wrangle is due to break out again with renewed vigor. It is rumored today that Supervisor Keppel will again wage a fight on the Campbell appropriation, and this time, it is said, he is prepared to take the matter to the courts if the board should decide against him. The fact that he is said to have employed an attorney gives rise to this rumor.

Roadhouse Licenses

At former meetings of the board Mr. Keppel has maintained that Campbell is not entitled to the road appropriations asked from the county, alleging that the town did not raise its share by taxation, but was building its roads, with state and county aid, on money raised from roadhouse and saloon licenses. According to the state law, the town furnishes one-third of the road fund spent in the building and maintenance of its highways while the county and state furnish the other two-thirds. Mr. Keppel declares that the town must raise its third by taxation and the county board may use its own judgment about supplying the balance of the fund if the money is raised in the town by any other means. The town of Campbell asked about $2,400 from the county this year for road work.

When the tax assessment question is taken up by the board, which will probably be the first thing after the board meets tomorrow at ten o'clock, the La Crosse city members will be lined up against the members from outside the city in the same tangent that appeared in the board of equalization. John Kindley, leader of the city forces, maintains that the assessments on certain kinds of property are too high and that if they are allowed to go through in the present form the city will be forced to pay more than its share of the county tax. The question has been taken to the tax commission but beyond stating that they had not authorized a raise in the assessment, no ruling was given.

May go to Commission

The assessment on this property was raised by Supervisor of Income Tax J. E. Keltzer, who based his action on information he obtained during his work on the collection of the income tax this year. It is not improbable that the question will ultimately be taken to the state tax commission for settlement.

It is rumored that at least one other fight affecting methods of county disbursements is brewing, but whether it will break out in open meeting or not is an open question.

POSTMASTER ON TRIAL

HEAD OF CHICAGO POSTOFFICE ALLEGED TO HAVE ENCOURAGED VIOLATION OF POLITICAL ACTIVITY RULE

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—The hearing of charges that Postmaster Daniel A. Campbell encouraged postoffice employees in Chicago to engage actively in politics in violation of a rule of the department, was begun this afternoon. The evidence in the case which will require several days, was to be heard by John T. Doyle of the federal civil service commission, Peter Newton, local secretary of the commission, and a postoffice inspector who will be chosen by Doyle and Newton.

NEED SEVEN JURORS

TRIAL OF FOUR GUNMEN ALLEGED TO HAVE KILLED ROSENTHAL CONTINUED TODAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Seven jurors were needed when the trial of the four gunmen alleged to have been the active instruments in the death of Herman Rosenthal, gambler, was resumed today. It was believed they would be secured so that the actual opening of the case might take place late today. There was the same talk of the quartet taking a second degree murder plea and the customary denials when court opened, but the general opinion about the court room was that the case would be fought out to a finish.

GOMPERS OPENS LABOR ASSEMBLY

President of A. F. of L. Says Outlook for Organized Workers was Never Better

URGES SUPPORT OF REFORMS

Tells Workers They Should Back Up Campaigns for Initiative, Referendum and Recall

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 11.—Never in the history of the American Federation of Labor has its membership been larger and the outlook for the future of organized labor more rosy, according to President Samuel Gompers, in his address today in opening the annual labor convention.

Higher wages and few hours of labor have lightened laborers' duties immensely, Gompers declared. He urged the "man in the overalls" to stand united for future betterment. Gompers said the federation's members now number 1,841,000 as against 1,770,145 last year.

"The demand for higher wages," he declared, "represents our conviction that a larger share of wealth should go to those who create it. The progress of humanity results from the elimination of poverty."

Urging labor to support the initiative, referendum and recall, Gompers sounded labor's political campaign cry, declaring "When political machinery responds to public opinion the electorate will attain real democracy."

Gompers said the federation is non-partisan, but unites to defeat its foes at the polls and elect its friends. He did not comment on the recent election results. Among the policies Gompers advocated were: Citizenship for Porto Ricans. Extension of the federation in Canada. Organization of steel workers. Opposition to compulsory arbitration laws. Extension of the eight-hour law. Limiting injunction and contempt proceedings. Passage of rigid immigration exclusion act. Limiting federal judges tenure. Popular election of United States senators.

Richard Curran, chairman of the local committee, delivered an address of welcome. This was formally followed by responses. Regular business of the convention was to be taken up this afternoon, when the reports of President Gompers and the other officials were delivered.

Indications thus far are all of the old officers will be re-elected and that legislation for submission to congress will be discussed.

ALLEGED BIG U. S. THEFT

MAN ACCUSED OF STEALING $173,000 FIVE YEARS AGO IS BROUGHT TO TRIAL TODAY

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—The trial of George W. Fitzgerald, charged with the theft of $173,000 from the United States sub-treasury here, was scheduled to begin before Federal Judge Carpenter this afternoon. It has been more than five years since the money disappeared and secret service men have been working up on it almost constantly since February 20, 1907.

It was admitted today that the government has no actual proof of the theft, but will make an effort to fasten it upon Fitzgerald by showing his activity in enormous business transactions since he was removed from the government service.

more than the Turks would grant, probably unconditional surrender. Czar Ferdinand still insisted on entering Constantinople, according to reliable information from Sofia and this, it was considered certain, the Turks considered an impossible condition.

Nazim Pasha, it was said, was not making a serious resistance to the Bulgarian attacks on the Chitajia fortifications, considering the situation hopeless, from a Turkish standpoint.

Confirmation was lacking today of the rumor that the British third class cruiser Barham had struck a Turkish mine. The admiralty expressed disbelief of the report, officials saying they would surely have received definite information of it, if anything of the kind had happened. Still, considerable anxiety was felt.

Servian at Durazzo

BELGRADE, Nov. 11.—The vanguard of General Yankovitch's Servian army has reached the Adriatic. It was announced here officially today. In the face of Austria's warning that it will not permit a Servian occupation of any Adriatic port, the troops were expected to seize Durazzo Wednesday.

The capture by the Servians of the Turkish towns of Dibri and Dajran, in the vicinity of Pristrend, Albania was officially announced today. Reports that Monastir had been captured were still unconfirmed.

Bulgaria Perturbed

SOPIA, Nov. 11.—Published reports that the powers plan an international occupation of Constantinople as a means of keeping the Bulgarians out and that the big chancelleries approve the retention by the sultan of a strip of territory along the southern Turkish coast perturbed government officials here deeply today.

If the Bulgarian army is opposed forcibly, when it attempts to enter the Turkish capital doubts were expressed whether Czar Ferdinand could control his troops. Having fought their way so far, the Bulgarians are determined, it is said, to occupy Constantinople.

The proposal to leave the Turks a strip of southern coast was regarded as even more serious. None of the allies is much interested in keeping Constantinople permanently, but they want an outlet to the Mediterranean.

If Austria takes the Adriatic coast and the sultan keeps his present frontage on the Bosphorus, the sea of Marmora, the Dardanelles, and the Aegean, it was pointed out, the allies might as well not have fought at all. Bulgaria will remain bottled up in the Black Sea. Servia will still be without any coast line at all. Greece will fail to get exactly the territory it wants and Montenegro apparently has already been completely overlooked.

Anti-War Demonstration

VIENNA, Nov. 11.—Tremendous anti-war demonstrations by the social democrats occurred throughout the provinces Sunday, according to messages received here today. The speakers urged the masses to do everything in their power to hamper military movements and to submit passively to capture by the enemy if finally dragged into action. In Russia, against whom Austria is likely to be aligned, it was declared that thousands of workmen will act similarly. Many arrests were made of prominent participants in the movement.

The war party here was exceedingly bellicose today, however. Regardless of the real commercial and strategic importance, which control of the eastern coast of the Adriatic has to Austria, the "insolence," as military men termed it, of the Servian move on Durazzo, in defiance of the Austrian warning to keep back from the Adriatic, aroused the most intense indignation.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 11.—The re-capture by the Turks of the town of Rodosto which the Bulgarians took last week, was officially claimed here last night. Turkish ships first bombarded the port and then 3,000 Ottoman troops landed and drove the Bulgarians out at the point of the bayonet, it was stated. Rodosto is an important port on the sea of Marmora, about eighty miles west of Constantinople. Its possession by the Turks is most important, since troops, landed there from Asia, might attack the Bulgarian main army from the rear.

Fight Over Salonika

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 11.—Bulgaria and Greece are on the point of a serious quarrel over the possession of Salonika, it was stated here on good authority today. The Greeks captured the town last week. It now appears that Bulgaria claims it, too, and intends to send an army to join the Greek force already in occupation.

BEGINNERS MUST GET EDUCATION

Apprentices in German Foundries Are Required by Law to Go to School

The education of apprentices in German foundries is described by Dr. Otto Brandt in a dissertation that is attracting considerable attention in this country, according to reports received at the United States bureau of education.

Various methods of instruction prevail. Frequently the apprentice is assigned to a skilled workman who instructs the boy and in return gets the larger pay resulting from the efforts of both. If the boy makes such good progress that the teacher workman's earnings increase rapidly, the boy is paid part of the proceeds. The pay is very small, however, from the American point of view. In large machine shops the foundry apprentices are formed into special classes for instruction in foundry work. If there are not enough boys for a special class, they receive general instruction in the industrial continuation school.

With some concerns all the apprentices are instructed together the first year, and specialize during the following three years. There is no uniformity with regard to subjects and time allotted them; the schools range all the way from one class with four hours a week of instruction to a complete three class system with a preparatory department and 12 hours of teaching. Some of the schools give merely technical subjects, while others offer the customary continuation school branches.

Industrial training of this sort is practically compulsory. It must be remembered. The employer is compelled to send all employees under 18 years of age to a continuation school, for a prescribed number of hours per week. He is at liberty to maintain a school of his own, but it must conform to government standards.

A typical school program includes German, two hours a week, with letter writing—business forms, bills, receipts, etc.; materials, two hours, comprising a study of ore processes, blast furnace, Bessemer, open hearth furnace, etc., and woods, their kinds, properties and diseases; arithmetic, two hours a week, particularly business arithmetic—cost of materials and freight charges, etc.; drawing, six hours a week. During the latter part of the course business law, civics and industrial history are introduced. Some of the schools have sessions from 7 to 9 a. m.; others 5 to 7 p. m. or at any convenient time; and a few hold sessions for an hour and a half or two hours on Sunday, though Sunday school work is no longer as frequent as it used to be, either in municipal industrial schools or shop schools.

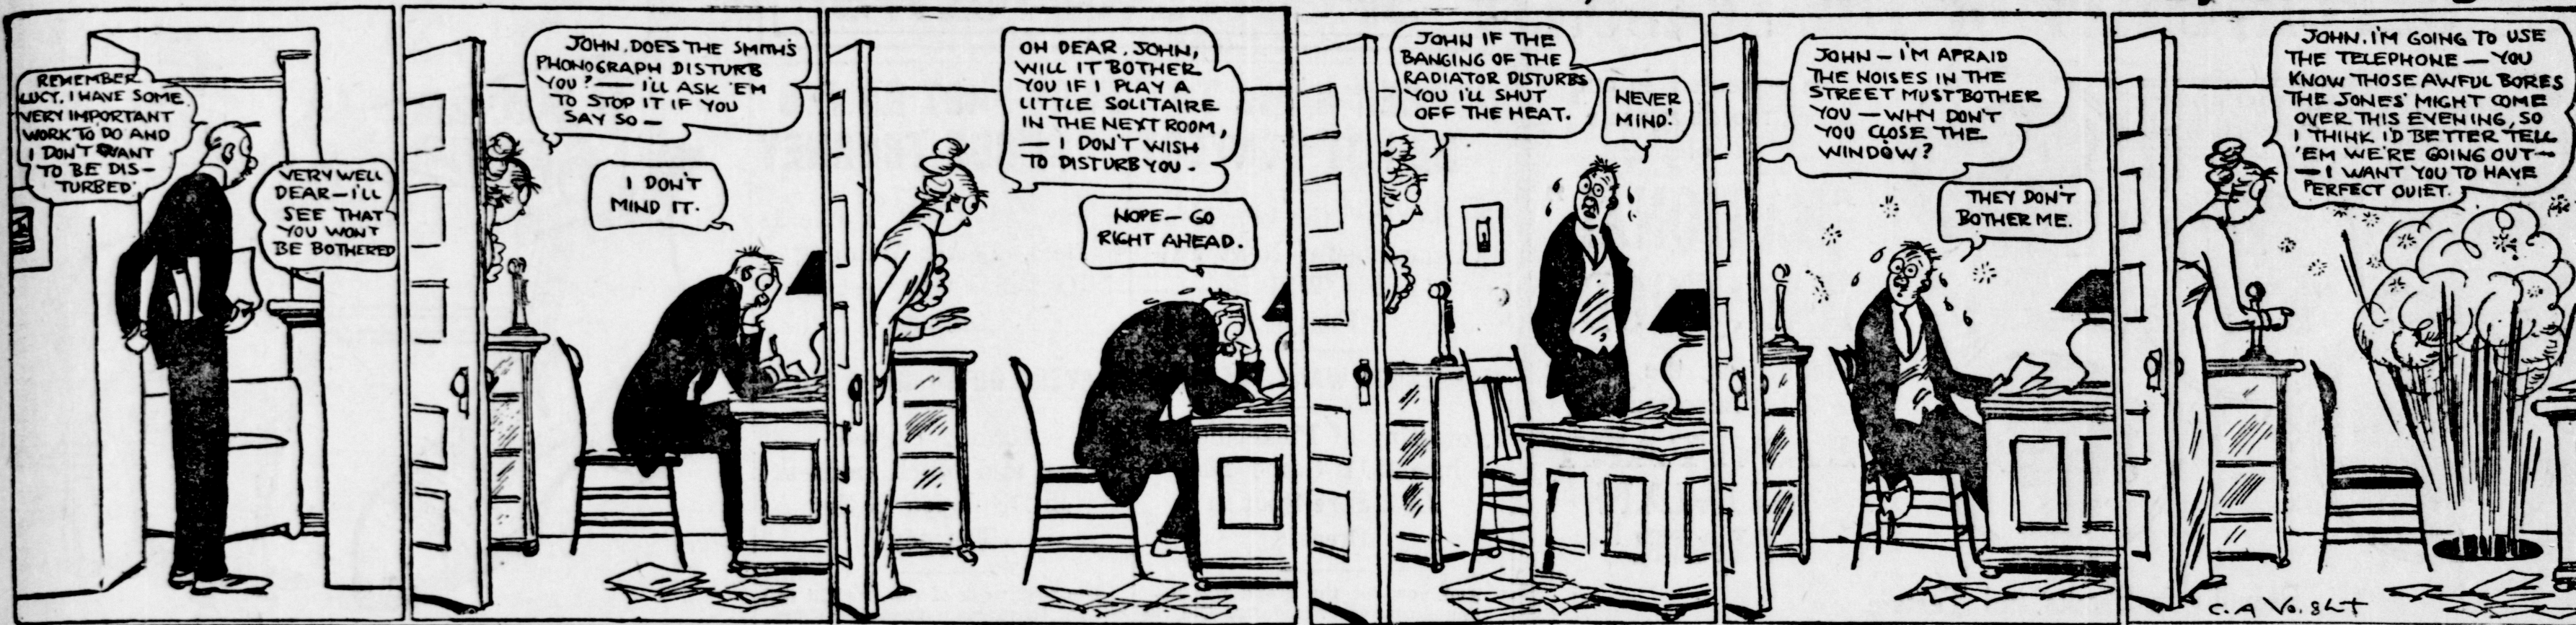

American foundrymen are interested in Dr. Brandt's description of German foundry school conditions because of the light it may throw on the similar problem in this country; and they are especially impressed with his summary of the purpose of the continuation school, as quoted from the Prussian minister of commerce and industry: "The compulsory industrial continuation school should aim at the vocational education of the young people between 14 and 18 years of age, to promote that education, and to train them to become valuable citizens and respected men."

Chicago Grain Review CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Everything favored bear traders in the wheat pit at the beginning today. Futures dropped at the outset and the trading continued at a decline, rallying but a small fraction toward the closing hours. The principal influence was a big decline in Liverpool which was due to more favorable political conditions in Europe and enormous world shipments. Corn futures were lower, being forced downward by weak cables and fine weather. Oats were inactive at a fraction lower than Saturday's prices. Provisions held steady throughout the day.

Animal Ventriloquists.

Ventriloquism is not confined solely to the human race. There are many birds whose notes it is almost impossible "to place." Take the corn crane, with its harsh "crake, crake!" One moment the sound is by your feet, the next fifty yards away. The grasshopper is another offender in this respect. Its sibilant note is hard to locate.

HUMAN NATURE.

Be assured that those will be thy worst enemies not to whom thou hast done evil, but who have done evil to thee. And those who will be thy best friends not to whom thou hast done good, but who have done good to thee.—Lavater.

EAU CLAIRE WINS GREAT GAME 20 TO 13

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Nov. 11.—Giving a great exhibition of the open game Eau Claire defeated the Chippewa Falls high school eleven by the score of 20 to 13 Saturday afternoon and the Chippewa team was thus eliminated in the race for the state championship. Pearson, the Eau Claire quarterback, starred by making a great 55 yard run for a touchdown in the last period thus winning the battle.

Believing that it is not necessary for them to meet La Crosse in another game this year after beating them 6 to 0 this season, it is generally thought in Eau Claire that no combat of this kind will take place.

The lineups:

WOLVERINES ARE BADLY BATTERED

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 11.—Complete rest today was the portion of the Michigan football players who stacked up against Pennsylvania in Saturday's heartbreaking game. The Wolverines were so bruised and stiff they did not even appear in uniform for today's practice. Beginning tomorrow, however, strenuous doses of work will be given by Coach "Hurricane" Yost in an effort to redeem the team somewhat with a victory over Cornell here next Saturday.

CHANCE WANTS BIG SALARY FROM REDS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 11.—"I will not manage the Cincinnati Reds until I receive $20,000 before leaving my California ranch."

This was the statement made today by Frank Chance, ex-manager of the Chicago Cubs. When informed that Charles W. Murphy had sold him to the Cincinnati team for $1,500.

"It is all a scheme of Charles Murphy to double-cross Tinker," said Chance, getting warmed up to his subject. "Tinker is the greatest ball player Chicago ever had, and he deserves to be given a chance as a manager. Tinker was my best friend and always stood by me. Murphy is depriving Tinker of an opportunity of managing the Cincinnati team just out of spite."

"I believe there is a secret agreement between the two clubs, whereby Garry Herrmann of the Reds, paid considerably more than this sum. When Murphy first announced that I would not head the Cubs next season, I resolved that he would not make any money out of me. I want to get every cent Herrmann paid Mr. Murphy for my release."

"You can state positively that I will not stir from my Glendora ranch unless I receive $20,000 in cash."

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 11.—President Herrmann of the Reds, when informed of the release of Frank Chance by the waiver route, said it had not been definitely decided whether or not Chance would be manager of the Reds next season.

BLOW SALOON SAFE

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Locking Edward Hirsch, bartender, and William Webb, porter, in a rear room, two masked men blew a safe in Frank Borthers' saloon early today and escaped with $1,500 in cash.

MANY TO ATTEND TIGER-YALE GAME

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 11.—Never before in the history of the game has there been such a rush as for that of Saturday next when the Tigers wind up their season with Yale. Applications for more than 5,000 seats have been returned with checks for more than $5,000 and every inch of space inside of the football grounds has already been allotted. The team will hold hard practice until Wednesday after which only light work will be indulged in. The players will not follow the custom of spending the last three days before the game at the seashore. Instead, they will remain here until the windup under the eye of their army of coaches.

CRIMSON STARS IN DARTMOUTH GAME

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 11.—Brickley and Captain Wendell are expected to start Saturday's game against Dartmouth. Coach Haughton practically decided on this today, thereby paying a compliment to the power of the Hanover machine. Today's practice was a series of instructions, based on what Harvard scouts saw at the Dartmouth-Cornell, and Yale-Brown games last week and on what Vanderbilt showed in the way of lightning-fast trick plays at the Stadium Saturday. There was only a brief scrimmage today.

MINNESOTA WANTS REVENGE

Protesting of Pickering Be-

And now for the grand windup. Minnesota vs. Wisconsin. Old as the hills, almost, but it still rings true and gives the same assurance of a conflict worth going most any distance to witness. This time, as has often been the case in past years, the conference championship will hinge on the result. Both of the eleven will enter the fray next Saturday on Northrup field with a clean slate as far as the big nine games are concerned. True, the Gophers have been defeated, but this was at the very juncture of the season when Williams, with practically an entirely new machine and sporting only one veteran, went down in defeat before a crew of old timers under the colors of South Dakota. The one beating, however, has been wiped out.

Williams and his aids deserve all the praise in the world for their gallant comeback in the face of an almost hopeless season. Wisconsin next Saturday will face an entirely different eleven than the one which visited Camp Randall in 1911 with almost fatal results for the invaders. The crew of 1911 was fighting mad, due to the injustice of the late protest of Pickering, their captain and star, and as a result, although they put up a gallant battle, they were like a machine robbed of its main cog. This year there will be no protest, no slip in the inner works of Williams' great team.

Critics who have watched the Gophers perform claim that Williams has an aggregation which, while not as brilliant or as versatile as the individuals who made up the 1911 team, is nevertheless just as powerful and just as strong; hence Juneau and his corps of coaches will keep their eleven on the hop daily and nightly to prepare for the crucial struggle of the year.

Again, Minnesota has much to make up for. The Gophers have not forgotten the play of the Wisconsin officials which robbed the Gophers of their best player on the eve of the championship contest, and they are out for revenge, pure and simple, and for that and no other reason the game will be terrific from the Gophers' end. They have fought valiantly for the honor to meet Wisconsin in the finals and with matters on the reverse this time and with Williams' crew the under dog in the rating, they can stake all in one great fight and still be none the loser if defeated in the end.

On the contrary the work at Madison will be one of fevered preparation, anxiety to clinch the title just within the grasp of Wisconsin after many years of waiting. Juneau has a wonderful machine, and on the face of the matter, if they can get by Minnesota next Saturday they will go down in history as one of the best of the many cardinal football eleven.

Badgers Weak in Open.

Gathering from the showing made by Wisconsin against Chicago, the Badgers have about everything that goes to make up a championship team, falling down only in one essential, and that is in the open play as far as the forward pass is concerned. Against the maroons and a defense possibly drilled especially for the breaking up of the same formation, Wisconsin did not get off one pass. On Saturday again it was different. Against Arkansas the Badgers used the long shoot with considerable success and for long gains. What Juneau will be able to do with the open play against Minnesota is a question which only the game can decide, but it is an assured matter that he will have to rely somewhat on these formations. The Minnesota line will be the strongest encountered this year, and Tanberg and the remainder of the back field trio will not find it an easy matter to crack Williams' defense. The Gophers are reputed to have built up a defense especially for Wisconsin, the line being drilled to plug, leaving the back field to take care of all open plays, and Juneau will find considerable difficulty in overcoming this method of defense.

POLICE PUT ONE OVER ON SHERIFF

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 11.—While deputy sheriffs were walking up and down before several alleged resorts early Saturday morning, Patrolman James Bartlett, dressed in civilian clothes, gained entrance to three places and secured evidence on which the police raided the houses. Nine women and four men were gathered in.

Many Games Played Last

Tourney

The first week of the straight rail billiard tournament at the La Crosse club was a record breaker for number of games played and for enthusiasm shown in the game, and taxed the equipment to its full capacity. In fact two or three more tables could have been kept busy. Class C leads with 27 games played, A and B each 24 and D 10, a total of 85 games. There was much clever playing of the right sort, many big runs and the averages as a rule run above the handicaps.

The fastest game of the week was the Schweizer-Craft contest which was concluded in 27 innings, Craft winning with an average better than three, Schweizer scoring better than 10 and with high runs of 52 and 44. Craft playing 85 per cent and Schweizer 60 per cent above their handicaps. For hazardous position play, clever execution of difficult shots and absence of safety play, this match will probably not be excelled in this tournament.

Robert Gordon continues to show good steady work for a "freshman," winning three out of five games played. Utermoehl, who made a bad showing the opening night, struck his stride, played some very clever billiards and easily defeated Hart and Burns. John Burns won one out of three games played, showing his best form and counts with Gene Edwards, but his average was not quite up to his last year's class A winning record but his playing showed very clearly that he can beat it when he gets squared away.

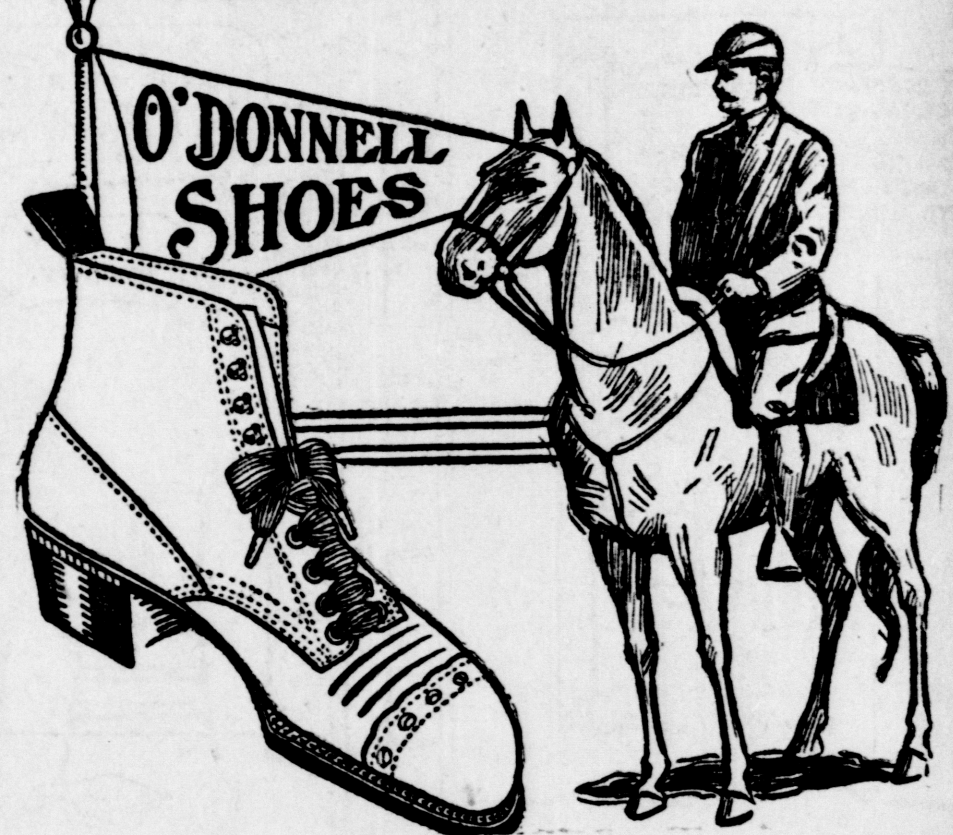

Dan MacMillan was not playing quite up to his standard but proved too strong for Schweizer, both playing a rather indifferent game, doing good work in spots but not playing steady, both apparently too anxious to win.

Arthur Funk continues to run way ahead of his handicap and Homer Hart ran way by the home plate in his game with Wager, who continues to play a losing game but keeps up courage and says with a knowing twinkle in his eyes that he will tan some of their jackets yet—and he surely will when he gets hold of himself for he knows how as well as any of them.

Lawrence Nelson, who plays good billiards, was a little slow in getting his batting eye but finally got going, winning easily from Kurtenacker but lost his next game to Keyes, who was lining them out in class A fashion finishing in 43 innings.

Torrance showed good form, breaking even in games played and showing an improvement over last year's work. Karl Kurtenacker made a bad start but has had no "work out" and will surely make them go some when he gets down to business. And Boyd started off somewhat weak but will undoubtedly come to the front as he is one of the old timers out of practice. Charlie Marboe played a number of games and had put everybody under the table until he bumped up against Billy Fox, who put it all over him, reaching the home plate in just 38 strides at a speed of 184 or 30 per cent better than his handicap, but the tables turned on Billy in his next bout with Will Hickisch, who gave him a terrible drubbing. Pat Hough had four to his credit when Percy Bentley got his stroke and clicked off the required number in 36 or 14 better than handicap. Hough getting the distance flag but Pat was game and in his next match with Kurtenacker took the bit in his mouth and covered the half mile in a 168 gait, and again winning from Lamb at a 192 average, 40 per cent better than handicap, but Lamb took his spite out on Arthur Schwalbe just because he was a "freshman" playing an average of 240 with high run of 15 and 70 per cent better than handicap. The present holder of the championship title, Roland Gelatt, lost his first game to Marboe, who finished with an eleven run in the 30th inning, showing an average of 186, the champion's average being 137, about 25 per cent better than his championship record, but he says he can beat that and is determined to defend the title to the last ditch regardless of the fact that the next president is to be a democrat. Harry Curtis, a freshman, showed up much better than his "tryout" winning three straight and leading Beisel to his Waterloo for the first time, but Fred filed a protest in which he set forth that he had only agreed to play class C men, and did not propose to be put out of the race by any dark horse class A man. George Schweizer, one of the freshman bunch, started off in trophy winning style but was downed by Tourtelotte one yard setback by Al Langenbach. A. B. Moll, the newly elected director in place of Mr. Perkins, deceased, broke better than even and is showing steady and substantial improvement in his style of play, as is also Cash White, who says he is determined to get out of the "smash 'em"

SPORTSMEN ON TRAIL OF DEER

La Crosse Hunters Go to Northern Woods at Opening of the Season

CONDITIONS ARE UNUSUAL

No Snow on Ground Makes
Hunting of the Wary Animals Very Difficult

A large number of La Crosse county sportsmen left the latter part of last week and today for the woods of northern Wisconsin to hunt deer. The season opened yesterday and until the 30th of this month, hunters are permitted to hunt to their heart's content—providing they do not kill more than one deer.

This is an unusual year, the season being about a month late and it is expected that unless snow comes soon a much smaller number of deer than usual will fall victims to the rifles of the hunters. The absence of snow makes it much harder to find the trail of the stalwart buck and timid doe. Uncovered leaves and brush on the ground also make it much harder to approach the wary animals.

Several members of the La Crosse County Hunting club, who recently bought a game preserve in Oneida county, left last week to get the camp in shape for the season's hunting. Repairs were made on the cabins and docks at the lake. Game of all kinds is said to be unusually plentiful in the country where the preserve is located. Other hunters from this city and county left for other haunts tried and proven in former years. Nearly all took shot guns with them in addition to their rifles to shoot partridges which live in the underbrush.

Games wardens everywhere urge people who risk their lives in the woods at this time of the year to wear a garb that cannot be mistaken for the red-brown skin of the deer.

There has been no change in the law governing the killing and shipping of deer since last season. The animals are protected in thirty-eight counties, and it is unlawful to hunt at night, with searchlights. Dogs are not allowed to aid in tracking deer, and the use of salt as bait, or pitfalls, traps and snares also is prohibited.

Over Sixty wardens will be on duty in the northern part of the state. Some of these will superintend the shipping of deer, taking care that none are sent without proper identification tags.

PICK BADGERS AS WESTERN CHAMPS

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Chicago football fans today picked Wisconsin to win the conference football championship when the title is settled next Saturday in the game with Minnesota. The defeat of Arkansas' strong team by a score of 64 to 7 by Wisconsin and the fact that the team came out of the game in fairly good condition, the dopesters argue shows that Wisconsin university is represented by the strongest team it has boasted for several years. Since Chicago made such a poor showing against Northwestern Saturday and defeated the Evanston team by only 3 to 0, fans are entertained by the Maroon following that the windup of the season in the games with Minnesota and Illinois will be disastrous for Chicago. The Maroons play Illinois next Saturday at Champaign, and on November 23 will meet Minnesota on Marshall field here.

Those who live in expectation are sure to be disappointed.

"For the last time I tell you I will not marry you." "I'm glad it's the last time. I'm getting tired of hearing it so often."
